February, 1983

MARK YOUR CALENDAR FOR FEBRUARY 16

Public librarians, library trustees, and library supporters are reminded that February 16, 1983, marks the second Library Legislative Day in South Carolina. On that date, all persons interested in public libraries will have the opportunity to meet with their state legislators in Columbia to urge their support for adequate state funding for public libraries and the State Library. All state legislators have been invited to attend a morning coffee in the Rembert Dennis Building, Room 149, beginning at 9:00 a.m. Local library delegations have also made additional appointments during the day to meet with their respective state senators and representatives to discuss library service and support.

Packets of information and brochures detailing the needs of South Carolina's public libraries have been distributed to county library directors who are serving as coordinators for their county's preparations for Legislative Day. Library Legislative Day 1983 is being jointly sponsored by the Association of Public Library Administrators and the Public Library and Trustee Sections of the South Carolina Library Association.

AUTOMATED CIRCULATION RFP GUIDE PUBLISHED

"Automated Circulation System; a Guide for Preparing a Request for Proposal" prepared by the South Carolina Task Force on Library Automation and Networking, was published by the South Carolina State Library in January. Copies of the guide will be distributed to all county libraries in South Carolina. Other libraries that would like to obtain a copy should contact: John Landrum, South Carolina State Library, Post Office Box 11469, Columbia, South Carolina 29211. Phone: 758-3138.

The report, which was developed by the Task Force's Automation Standards Subcommittee chaired by David Warren, "is not intended to include all elements needed in request for proposal, but rather intends to serve as a checklist for items to be considered." A bibliography of suggested sources of information is also included in the guide.

MEETINGS WITH SOUTH CAROLINA CONGRESSMEN, SENATORS BEING PLANNED

David Warren, Richland County Public Library Director and Federal Relations Coordinator for the South Carolina Library Association, reports that plans are currently underway to hold regional meetings with South Carolina Congressional representatives during the Congressional Easter recess. Similar meetings between library delegations and South Carolina's Congressmen and Senators were held last year throughout South Carolina. These meetings provided an opportunity for South Carolina librarians and library supporters to voice their concerns relating to federal library programs. This year, the planning committee coordinating the regional meetings has been expanded to include school librarians. Details concerning meeting dates, locations, etc., will be announced in the March issue of this newsletter.

STATE PLAN FOR FEDERAL DEPOSITORY LIBRARIES IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Eleven documents librarians met at the South Carolina State Library on January 19 to consider and revise the draft of the State Plan for South Carolina federal depository libraries prior to its being submitted to the U. S. Superintendent of Documents.

Federal approval of the State Plan is necessary since South Carolina is requesting disposal rights without having a regional depository library in the state. Clemson University, the University of South Carolina, and Winthrop College have jointly agreed to take all depository items with three exceptions -- Flood Insurance Reports (will take only South Carolina), federal accounting and auditing manuals, and legal and regulatory materials issued by separate agencies which are duplicated in other depository publications. The State Library has agreed to serve in an administrative capacity, handling disposals, inspections, etc.

The State Plan establishes an advisory council of seven depository librarians to oversee the State Plan and work with the cooperating libraries.

The State Plan will be completed by the middle of February.

INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM TELECONFERENCE

A teleconference on intellectual freedom will be broadcast via closed-circuit television on Saturday, February 12 from the University of South Carolina Law Center beginning at 9:30 a.m. The teleconference will feature a panel discussion by leading spokespersons representing various sides of the issue, including Judith Krug, Director of ALA's Office of Intellectual Freedom, and Cal Thomas, Vice-President of Communications for the Moral Majority. Eighteen viewing sites around the state have been selected, including USC and technical colleges. Program time has been allowed for the audience to direct questions to the panel members.

The teleconference, which is being funded by a grant from the South Carolina Committee for the Humanities, is being co-sponsored by the USC College of Library and Information Science, the South Carolina Library Association, and the South Carolina Association of School Librarians. The project is being directed by Dr. Dan Barron, USC College of Library and Information Science.

WORKSHOPS SCHEDULED

Conservation and Restoration of Library Materials

"Prolonging the Life of Your Collection" will be the topic of a workshop to be held on March 30, 1983, at the Town House in Columbia from 10 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Sponsored by the SCLA Technical Services Section, the workshop will focus on basic conservation and preservation practices for libraries. Larry Roland, President of Joseph Ruzicka-South Inc., will serve as the main speaker. The afternoon session will include speakers from different types of libraries who will address the "how-to" approach on the topic within their respective work places. Registration fee is $15 for SCLA members and $20 for non-members. For further information, contact Charmaine Tomczyk at USC-Coastal Carolina. Phone: 347-3161, ext. 245.

Microcomputer Software

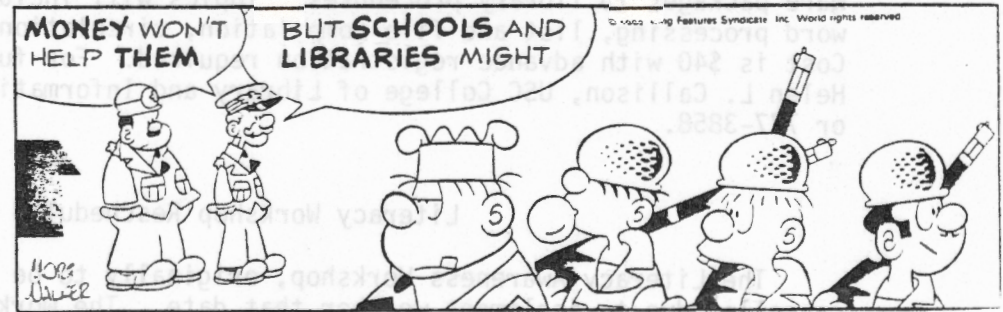

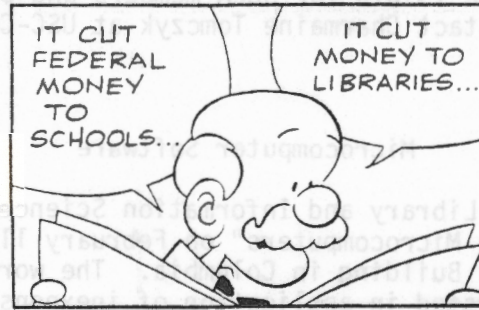

The USC College of Library and Information Science will sponsor a workshop on "Library Software for Microcomputers" on February 11, 1983, in Room 205 of the Booker T. Washington Building in Columbia. The workshop is designed to assist librarians interested in application of inexpensive microcomputer software packages to library procedures. Topics will include budgeting and planning, word processing, list and file compilation, circulation, serials, and cataloging. Cost is $40 with advance registration required. For further information, contact Helen L. Callison, USC College of Library and Information Science, at 777-2544 or 777-3858.

Literacy Workshop Rescheduled

The Literacy Awareness Workshop, originally to be held on January 21, was cancelled due to inclement weather that date. The workshop has been rescheduled for Friday, March 4, at the Town House, 1815 Gervais Street, in Columbia from 10:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Workshop speakers will include Dr. J. K. East, Office of Adult Education, South Carolina Department of Education, and Anne B. Drake, President of the South Carolina Literacy Association.

FOCUS: Library Service to Older Adults and People with Disabilities is a new newsletter designed to raise librarians' awareness of the needs of and resources for serving these groups of people. The single-sheet newsletter will be published twelve times a year and is available in two forms: (1) individual subscriptions for $6.00 a year or (2) camera-ready copy, with copyright permission for reproduction and distribution for $60.00 a year. To order, send a check or money order to Eunice G. Lovejoy, Library Consultant, 172 West Main Street, Westerville, Ohio 43081.

MIAMI UNIVERSITY OFFERS SUMMER LIBRARY PROGRAMS ON MANAGEMENT

Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, is offering three summer programs designed to improve the effectiveness of library administrators. The courses are described below:

Middle - Management: June 5-10 and July 17-22, 1983. Basic management programs specifically designed for those who directly supervise the activities of several others, and/or are relatively new to the management field. Tuition of $470 includes instructional materials, lodging, and two meals per day.

Advanced Management: July 24-29. For those who have attended a middle-management course and/or have at least five years of library administrative experience. Participants in this program are library directors or directors of a main department in a large library. Tuition, same as above.

Post-Graduate Seminar: The Evaluative Interview: July 31-August 2. Seminar primarily aimed at past participants of Miami's Management seminars who are responsible for hiring management personnel.

For further information or an application form, contact: Richard E. Vandegrift, Director, Center for Management Services, 103 Laws Hall, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio 45056. Telephone: 513-529-2132.

ADVANCED DATES FOR NLW SET

Advance dates for National Library Week (NLW) have been scheduled as follows: April 15-21, 1984; April 14-20, 1985; April 5-11, 1986; April 5-11, 1987; April 17-23, 1988; April 9-15, 1989; and April 22-28, 1990.

LIBRARY NAMED AS HISTORIC SITE

The People's Free Library of Lowrys has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

The library was established in 1903-1904 and served northern Chester County until 1954. From 1904 until about 1909, the library offered one of the first mobile library services carrying books to rural Chester County residents. The library building is essentially unaltered and contains most of its original furnishings. The building was restored in 1972 by the Thursday Afternoon Club of Lowrys.

SELA MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL

Librarians and library supporters are reminded that now is the time to renew their membership or begin their membership in the Southeastern Library Association (SELA). Dues structure is as follows:

Commercial Representatives	$10
Students, trustees and Friends	$ 4
No salary to annual salary of
$6,500	$ 5
$6,501 to $7,500	$ 6
$7,501 to $13,500	$ 9
$13,501 to $20,500	$12
$20,501 +	$15

SELA membership includes affiliation in two sections or roundtables and a subscription to the Southeastern Librarian as well as all general mailings. Additional sections (up to a maximum of 4) may be joined at a cost of $2 for each additional section. For a membership application form, contact the Executive Director, Southeastern Library Association, Post Office Box 987, Tucker, Georgia, or call Anne Middleton, South Carolina State Library, at 758-3138.

Public Library Notes

Chester County: The library's new Gerstenslager bookmobile began operation on January 17. The vehicle was purchased through funds secured from LSCA Title I administered by the South Carolina State Library, the Elliott White Springs Foundation, federal revenue sharing, a private donation, and county appropriations.

Chesterfield County: The Weller Plant in Cheraw and the Cooper Industries Foundation made the first large industrial pledge in the amount of $10,000 to the library's building fund. The pledge brings the amount of total funds raised to $95,000 towards a goal of $300,000 for renovation and construction of a building for use as a new library headquarters.

Dorchester County: The Summerville branch library, in conjunction with the Summerville Music Club and the South Carolina Arts Commission, recently sponsored a concert by classical guitarist Christopher Berg. Mr. Berg is a member of the faculty of the University of South Carolina.

Edgefield County: "Love in the Mornings" is the title of the weekly film series currently being offered by the library to attract senior citizens....The library is also conducting monthly programs in local nursing and retirement homes.... The Edgefield County United Way made a $3,032 contribution to the library in order to secure the library's per capita budgetary obligation to the Aiken-Bamberg-Barnwell-Edgefield Regional Library program.

Florence County: The library observed "fine forgiveness" weeks January 17-29. Not only were books accepted without fines but all back fines were also cancelled....Library director Philip Cheney appeared recently on a local television noon-time program. In addition to reporting on library activities, he also participated in the TV program's exercise demonstration, complete in jogging suit....The library will celebrate February as Black History month with programs featuring local artists, poetry readings, and children's films....Various hobbies of library staff members were displayed at the library during Hobby Month. Displayed items included toy collecting, photography, needlework, airplane model building, and gardening.

Georgetown County: The father and son duo of Jay Bazemore and Jay Bazemore, Jr. had a joint exhibition of their wooden duck decoys and duck miniatures displayed at the library during December.

Kershaw County: Harold and Ginny Truesdale have donated an American flag which had been flown over the U. S. Capitol to the library....The Kendall Corporation recently donated $1,200 to the Bethune library branch.

Lancaster County: The library, in cooperation with the University of South Carolina at Lancaster Medford Library, is presenting a three-part program on investment strategy. Representatives from banking, insurance, and stock brokerage firms will serve as guest speakers.

Laurens County: The library's promotion to "give a book to the library for Christmas" netted approximately $1,000 to be used to purchase new books. The library plans to repeat the promotion next year....The County Council has allocated funds to the library to purchase microfilm copies of the Laurens County Advertiser from 1885 to the present. The South Caroliniana Library recently completed microfilming the entire run of this newspaper.

Marion County: The library is planning a sequel to their successful speed reading program on February 19....The library reports that a new bookmobile was received in January. The bookmobile was purchased in part through an LSCA grant administered by the South Carolina State Library.

Marlboro County: "Parent Power," a drug education bibliography has been prepared and distributed by the library to drugstores, beauty shops, and restaurants. In addition to listing reading materials, the bibliography also cites resources for consultation and services.

Pickens County: In cooperation with the Pickens Extension Service, the library began a 8-week series of "Eating Slim" classes on January 14....The library is currently offering Sunday hours (2-5 p.m.) on a trial basis through March. Staff members are volunteering their time in order to allow the library to be open during these hours....The library reports that their "Buy a Book for a Child" Christmas book drive was a great success with over 1,400 books collected and purchased. The county's social services department distributed the books to needy children in the county.

Richland County: The library recently selected Baker and Taylor's Libris automated acquisitions system for upgrading its acquisition system. The library will utilize the system through the TELENET communications network....Approximately 40 persons attended the library's business information seminars on December 14 and 15. The early morning programs were co-sponsored by the Friends of the Library and the Greater Columbia Chamber of Commerce.

Sumter County: In conjunction with National Hobby Month, the library is providing reading lists pertinent to a variety of hobbies. A colorful bulletin board invites readership in areas of hobby interests and suggests use of the reading lists.

Focusing on Serving Children

SERVING ON THE CALDECOTT COMMITTEE

South Carolina had a representative on both the Newbery and Caldecott committees this year. Pat Scales, Greenville Public Schools, served on the Newberry committee, and Jane Gardner, State Library, served on the Caldecott committee. Jane thought you might enjoy hearing a little detail about the process since she found it an enlightening and fascinating experience.

Beginning early in 1982, I began to receive books for consideration from publishers. The U.P.S. man finally asked me about all the packages I was receiving! As each member examined books, he or she sent lists of titles worth discussing to the chairman. At the ALA conference we discussed titles from our early suggestions, and as importantly, began to get to know each other. We continued to send lists of suggestions back and forth and, as lists compiled, to see which books were showing up repeatedly. In October and again in December, we had to nominate three titles. All nominated and late-suggested books were brought to Midwinter and discussed. In fact, discussion is the heart of the meetings. Many hours were spent discussing titles under consideration and winnowing. Each time titles were eliminated, the committee rediscussed all the titles still remaining. ALSC has a complicated formula of total votes required and necessary point spreads to determine the winners, and the process of rediscussion helps members rethink and reconsider each title.

CHARLESTON COUNTY LIBRARY ADDS NEW DIMENSIONS TO SCHOOL VISITS

In an effort to make visits to the Charleston County main library more enjoyable and worthwhile, the children's room is offering a variety of programs to school classes during the 1982-1983 school year. Teachers may call and schedule the program desired. An attractive brochure outlines the following choices. "Introducing: The Charleston County Library" is a slide/tape presentation and tour. "Meet Edgar Allan Poe," includes tales, poems, and a film. "Once Upon a Thimble" features storytelling and "Puppet Playhouse" offers a choice of three puppet plays. "WCCL Dateline Poetry" presents news, sports, and weather in poetry, and "Puppets and Poetry" introduces younger children to poetry through puppets. "Down from Olympus" focuses on Greek mythology. "Let's Talk Books" is a book talk designed for class needs. "Books into Film" and "Flickers" use the library's own film collection. Response to the program offerings has been excellent. While other libraries may be unable to offer the variety of topics that Charleston does, the idea of alternatives to the class tour is well worth serious consideration.

AROUND THE STATE

Lancaster's COLOR-ME-CLOWNS gave a performance of "The Bookworm" at the Lancaster County Library for children and parents this fall. In February, the library is sponsoring a film and discussion series on parenting using materials from the Early Childhood Media Clearinghouse Catalog and the State Library film collection.

The Abbeville County Library has begun a bi-weekly Story Hour, organized and presented by the newly-organized Abbeville Woman's Club, a community service organization. On alternate Wednesdays, one or two members of the club present stories from books and AV materials to children of all ages.

The Richland County Public Library is establishing a parenting collection in the children's room at the main library. The collection will include materials which will be of specific interest to parents, teachers, and others who work with children. The Junior League Collection of Notable Children's Books will be incorporated into the collection.

After a successful week of special Christmas children's programming at all libraries of the Oconee County Library, the library is looking forward to its six-week series of story hours which began in January.

CHILDREN AND HOSPITALS WEEK

The Association for the Care of Children's Health announces that Children and Hospitals Week is March 21-28, 1983. Its purpose is to increase public and professional awareness of the emotional needs of hospitalized children and their families, such as preparation for entering the hospital and the way parents can best be involved in hospital experiences. The Association is eager to have libraries mount community awareness displays. Free posters, pamphlets, and suggestions for bibliography and other display materials are available from: ACCH, 3615 Wisconsin Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20016.

SAFE FOR CHILDREN?

If you do craft activities for children you may wish to request a free copy of "List of Art Materials Certified Safe for Use by Children." It is available from the Arts and Crafts Materials Institute, Inc., 715 Boylston Street, Boston, MA 02116.

NEW PUBLICATIONS AVAILABLE ON PRIVATE FOUNDATIONS

The Foundation Center has recently issued two new titles of interest to persons seeking grants from private foundations. Both publications can be ordered from the Foundation Center, 888 7th Avenue, New York, New York 10106.

The Foundation Directory Supplement was issued for the first time in November, 1982. The supplement updates information on grant making foundations listed in the 8th edition (1981) of the Foundation Directory. The 9th edition is not scheduled to be published until late 1983. The supplement contains over 1,750 updated entries reporting new information on fiscal data, personnel, addresses and telephone numbers, application procedures, and funding priorities. The Foundation Directory Supplement sells for $20.

The Foundation Grants Index Bi-Monthly is a new subscription service which began in January, 1983. This new publication replaces "The Foundation Grants Index" which has appeared for the last ten years in each bi-monthly issue of Foundation News published by the Council on Foundations. Foundation Grants Index Bi-Monthly will report on recent significant grants made by philanthropic foundations, fully indexed by funding interest and recipients. The Bi-Monthly report will also note information updates on major foundations, new publications in the fund-raising field, and foundation annual reports and brochures. Subscription price: $20.

NEW MEMBER OF ILL STAFF

Brenda Boyd is the new Interlibrary Loan Assistant at the South Carolina State Library, replacing Liz Segars who departed in December. Ms. Boyd is a graduate of South Carolina State College and has attended the USC College of Library and Information Science.

CHECKLIST ISSUED

The second quarterly issue of Checklist of South Carolina State Publications covering October-December, 1982 was distributed to public and academic libraries in the state in January. Librarians are reminded that quarterly issues must be retained for publication entries but the index does cumulate each quarter.

NEW FRANCHISE DIRECTORY

Franchise Opportunities '82, a directory of franchising firms published by the U. S. Department of Commerce, is now available from the U. S. Government Printing Office for $10. Stock number: 003-008-00187-4.

IRS TAX TAPES AVAILABLE

Libraries interested in obtaining the U. S. Internal Revenue Service's income tax preparation tape cassettes should contact: Taxpayer Education Coordinator, IRS, 1835 Assembly Street, Columbia, South Carolina 29201. Telephone: 765-5482.

"To be able to ask a question clearly is two-thirds of the way to getting it answered." John Ruskin

PR Ideas

The Bookmobile is Coming...is a flyer used by the York County Public Library and the Spartanburg County Public Library to promote expanded bookmobile service. Half of the flyers (4 1/4" by 11") have a hole cut by the printer so that the flyers would fit over a doorknob or on a mailbox flag. The York County Public Library staff was assisted by Girl Scout troops in the distribution of the flyers. For a xerox copy of the flyer, contact Deborah Hotchkiss at the State Library.

Screwey Dewey is the name given to a board game similar to Monopoly which teaches children the Dewey Decimal System. The game, which was designed by Arden Baker and James Braff, is primarily for children grades 4 to 7. The price is $12 and it is available from the Canadian Library Association, 151 Starks Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1P 5E3.

A reminder: The advance registration deadline for the Public Library Association's first national conference is February 28. The conference, "Serving People: The Public Library Today and Tomorrow" will be held in Baltimore, Maryland on March 23-26. Detailed information on registration and reservation procedures is included in the Winter issue of Public Libraries.
